Dear Sir/Ma'am,

This is to draw your attention towards the deteriorating condition of River Yamuna in Delhi and to encourage honest and well-meaning efforts and participation of youth from your institution towards a noble mission to clean and revive river Yamuna. In a country, where water bodies are considered sacred, it is highly unfortunate to see the deplorable condition of river Yamuna which is hugely contaminated with garbage, sewage and filth. its riverbanks turning into dumping sites.

Yamuna Mission Foundation, is an organization which has already done tremendous work towards cleaning of river Yamuna in Mathura. The most appreciated part is that it is working for this cause with its own resources without expecting any donation from anyone.

We are happy to share with you that Lakshmibai College has joined hands with Yamuna Mission Foundation and is happy to work as a Nodal College in Delhi and NCR. for the cause. But, no mission or fight can be accomplished with one single individual or organization be it fighting with COVID 19 or Mission Vaccination or Cleaning Yamuna.. The Yamuna mission also solicits mass awareness and participation of youth in Delhi and NCR.

Taking this as an opportunity to foster social responsibility in our students and contribute to conservation of environment, a team of around 100 students and teachers from Lakshmibai College visited Yamuna mission site in Mathura, U.P., where they learnt about the various initiatives undertaken by Yamuna mission foundation to clean the river water and also to revive the riverbanks by creating massive green cover, through planting of trees, on what would otherwise be stinking mounds of garbage. The Mission is always happy to host the students and faculty members from esteemed institutions visiting the renovated ghat site in Mathura U.P.

Inspired by the work done for Yamuna River in Mathura, Lakshmibai College along with Yamuna Mission is keen to revive river Yamuna in Delhi and seeks your help to accomplish this formidable yet fulfilling task. As constituent colleges of the University of Delhi or any other Educational Institution, University, College, School working in Delhi & NCR, we can surely contribute to the Yamuna Cleaning and Green Belt Development project by ensuring the participation of our staff and students. It will be an experiential learning for our students and our contribution as an HEI towards a social and pious cause..

As a first step in this direction, you are requested to participate in "Nadi Samvad", an event jointly organised by Yamuna Mission and Rashtriya Swabhiman Andolan, to deliberate upon the future course of action for conservation and protection of our water bodies. Details of the event are as under:

Venue: Talkatora stadium, New Delhi

Date and Time: 12th April 2022, Tuesday, 10am— 5pm

Pls. register Link for Registration: <https://forms.gle/cEuCtQdhcXNmTNL48>

We request you to encourage all the staff and students of your institution, especially, EVS, NSS & NCC to join us in the mission of cleaning the river Yamuna in Delhi, making it a better place to live. We are expecting your enthusiastic participation which would further strengthen the movement.

All students and faculty members attending the event will be awarded a certification of participation. For information and queries, please contact us at yamunamissiondelhi@lb.du.ac.in and pls. see attachments with the mail.

Looking forward to meeting you on 12th April.

Sincerely,

Yamuna Mission Foundation

& LBC Team
